About Org/facilitator	Jamie is a practised Playworker and has extensive experience working in outdoor elemental adventurous play settings. Having managed volunteers, trainees and Playworkers, in a community led provision Jamie understands the realism of introducing adventurous play into a community. Jamie’s style of training gives delegates the skills and confidence to manage and recreate what they learn on the day in their own place of work.
About Workshop	Delegates will experience elemental adventurous play through out the day. Gain an experiential understanding of the importance of adventurous opportunities and grow in confidence to facilitate adventure play. The day includes facilitating fire play (including health and safety) and construction of rope swings (including different types of knots). All training techniques used, support the delegates to feel confident and enthusiastic to manage and recreate what they have learned in their own settings. Delegates will need to bring their own lunch and may wish to bring additional food, which they can cook on the open fire. This training will be run in all weather so warm clothes and wet weather gear is advised.
